About the Webinar:

Quality seed is a key determinant in agriculture that has the capability to ensure food security. Seeds represent a particularly efficient vehicle to disperse seed borne pathogens. Pathogens free seed is prerequisite to grow healthy crop and harvest good yield. The webinar 'Recent Advancements in Seed Health Management' is an attempt to amalgamate par excellence seed professionals of national and international repute to contemplate on topics viz. Importance of harmonization in seed health testing, epidemiological approaches to seed borne disease management and monitoring & detection of insect infestation of seeds. This webinar also aims at bridging knowledge gaps in the referred domains and information shared shall be helpful for professionals working in the field of seed pathology, seed entomology and seed science & technology in revalidating knowledge regarding detection and management of seed borne pathogens and storage pests.

Target Audience:

Scientists, Research Scholars, Students from SAUs/ICAR, Seed Professionals from Public & Private Sector, Policy Makers, Seed Entrepreneurs and other Stake Holders of Seed Industry.
